

USA first or Europe first

Donald Trump has already proven enough during his first time in office, what a senile criminal tail- and Putin-controlled asshole he is. Nevertheless, the majority of consumer-addicted, highly indebted brain amputees elected him again for a second term.

Now he wants to give Ukraine away to the Russians, but before, that he wants to rob all Ukrainian mineral resources. Not a day goes by without dictatorial decrees, worldwide punitive tariffs under the motto America first, and above all massive threats to Europe.

Which brings us to the topic of NATO, which consists mainly of European countries that are conventionally more powerful than the USA and Russia combined. From a nuclear point of view, Europe also has a sufficient arsenal with England and France and could easily expand it.

However, the war in Ukraine shows once again, that only conventional fighting and nuclear threats can only be made, knowing who throws the first bomb, who automatically triggers a tremendous chain reaction worldwide, whereby humanity would be 100% wiped out and replaced by octopuses.

NATO is currently an unparalleled flaw, where a single country, like Turkey, was able to prevent Sweden and Finland from joining for months. In addition, Turkey does not belong to Europe, but to Asia.

Therefore, the NATO countries of Europe should finally stand together and confront the USA with a decision, that must mean, that we withdraw from NATO and establish a purely European army to protect Europe, i.e. under the motto Europe first, i.e. without troublemakers like the USA, Turkey and the like, i.e. Turkey out Ukraine in!

And what do we do with Belarus, which is also part of Europe? No problem, deporting Lukashenko and his henchmen to Russia, where these communists à la Stalin and Lenin belong. Belarus can then be renamed Belarop and incorporated into Europe.

And what do we do with dictatorial politicians in Europe who adore Putin and oppress their people? No problem, deporting this color and its henchmen to Russia, where these communists à la Stalin and Lenin belong.

And what do we do with far-right parties à la AfD in Germany or the SVP in Switzerland? No problem, re-educate in labor camps until the shit boils in their large intestines.

And how must this European army be organized? Without any veto of individual states, no, the majority decides in 2 chambers, a small chamber with 2 state representatives each, a large chamber with country representatives, proportional to the size of the population. This has been working in Switzerland for centuries. But I don't see a chance for Europe, with gender types like Macron, who spend more time in the boudoir than prostitutes.
